RESEARCH

Research Interests

- Agro-industrial waste management
- Deep Learning. Lean manufacturing and Six Sigma projects
- Materials and new products from Industrial byproducts

Dr. Velazquez Martinez has developed agro-industrial waste research projects to generate food additives and nutraceuticals. These projects optimize the reuse of byproducts such as sugarcane bagasse, citrus, and coffee waste generated by several metric tons yearly. Also, Deep learning has been an approach to identify patterns of alarms and the consequent failure or shutdown of gas turbines used for oil companies. These patterns will help propose the preventive maintenance schedule to reduce failures, costs, and human resources invested in repairing the equipment.
